This game blew me away right off the bat. I played a Game of Thrones game, I played a Dragon Age game, I played a Dark Souls game, and now I play this game. I'm not surprised it's been a success because it feels like it's been made by all the studios who made those games in one. I've played the game a lot and I've been feeling the same way about each game, but it sounds like this one is even better. They say it's better because they took their time, but also because they got some help from developers who had experience with the RPG genre. The background story is really interesting with a ton of twists that surprised me and it made me feel like this game will keep you interested. I haven't seen a lot of people talk about the story and how they like it, but I'm sure it's a good one. Gems: 5/5 — "I would even say the game may be the best Lord of the Rings game" AI/Controls: 4/5 — "I think people are gonna get a lot of enjoyment out of this game." Graphics/Sound: 4/5 — "I love the graphics." Gameplay/Replay: 4/5 — "I was busy trying to see everything in this game. I was trying to complete everything before I died." OVERALL GAME: 5/5 — "I really can't say enough good things about this game. It's a game that I would recommend for anyone." Best VN on PC: 5/5 — "This game is the only VN game I've ever played." POWER: 5/5 — "I haven't seen a game that had as much potential as this game." I've played a lot of SF RPGs, and this one takes the cake. The combat is very simple, there's no skills to worry about, but it's still a whole lot of fun, the characters are incredibly memorable, and it's all just everything I love about RPGs. The entire world is one big adventure, and it's all just so great. The story is just incredible bff6bb2d33
