Darcula on Mac Â .Oedema What is oedema? Oedema is the build-up of fluid in the tissues. Oedema affects the skin, particularly the lower limbs, kidneys and the perineum. It can be mild or severe. It may result in painful and sometimes serious complications such as deep vein thrombosis, varicose veins, cellulitis or lymphangitis. What is causing the oedema? The causes of oedema are manifold. The most important one is a condition called fluid retention. Fluid retention means that more than required amounts of fluid have built up in the tissues. This can be a result of any of the
