Q: how to pass textbox data between user control c# I have a form called layout where I have 2 different user control. LoginControl PageControl The function of LoginControl is to login. and function of page is to display the content of the mainpage.xaml On the main page, if the user is logged in, its content change to home page, while if the user is not logged in, the content will show login page. I am using a Textbox in the login control and I would like to automatically send the textbox's text back to the main page. Below is the code I have tried: public partial class Layout : UserControl { public void Button2_Click(object sender, EventArgs e) { if (LoginControl1.Text.Equals("")) { HomePage homepage = new HomePage(); homepage.GetTitle(); } else { LoginPage loginPage = new LoginPage(); loginPage.GetTitle(); } } } so the idea is that when user click button2, if the user is not logged in, the LoginControl will display the login page, while if the user is logged in, it will redirect to the HomePage. If I am not using the LoginControl, I am able to call the HomePage,
