Description: Healthcare Quality Monitor is an app that may seem big at first, but it will allow you to monitor a variety of health markers and health related metrics in a really convenient way. Additional health information from St. Mary's Medical Center: It is estimated that the amount of time we spend in bed and the amount of time we spend sleeping has been on a continuous decrease. According to data provided by the National Sleep Foundation in the United States, 6 out of 10 Americans get fewer than six hours of sleep a night. Researchers estimate that sleeping a total of seven hours improves one's endurance and performance. When we sleep, we do our bodily functions one of the body's most basic functions. It's a process that may be quite essential to the overall health of the body. It's during sleep that our body repairs, builds or upgrades proteins. The enzymes involved in such processes as reproduction and the growth and repair of tissues are also active. Most of us know that lack of sleep is harmful to our overall health. Studies have shown that sleeping less than six hours a night can result in a higher risk of cardiovascular diseases, type 2 diabetes, certain cancers and sleep apnea. Furthermore, when we don't get enough sleep our body's metabolism slows down and we gain more weight. We also tend to eat more since we are not hungry anymore. Lack of sleep is closely related to eating disorders, overeating and 3a67dffeec

If you're a reader of this blog, you know how hard it is to get through a day on an unbalanced diet. You're sitting in the office or at home while you're having lunch and only every once in a while you stop and look up a few nutrition guidelines to guide you through the day. This approach is far from ideal because your nutrition doesn't provide you with the results you desire if you're trying to lose weight. That's why you need to decide if nutrition is something you really want to pursue or if you prefer starting with the right habits that could help you in the long run. Unhealthy nutrition is linked to a number of health issues (obesity, diabetes, cardiovascular diseases, cancer,...) The following infographic could help you to identify the culprits responsible for the unbalanced nutrition many people have. Keep in mind that you don't want to follow a nutritional program that is basically the opposite of what we have been taught to do as kids. As soon as you start following
