ASPEL COI 7R14 ACTIVADOR keygen. windows 7 serial keygen crack. I have an autodesk cad.Q: Stuck on a simple coding exercise. How do I get my print function to work correctly? I'm running into trouble when trying to write an 'if not' condition in this exercise. The question is as follows: Write a program that asks the user for the name of a person and a person's age, then displays an age range chart (i.e., A 15-20 age range) This is the code I've worked out thus far: #the program below allows a user to input a name and age of a person and then #then displays a range chart between the specified age range name = input("Enter the person's name: ") age = input("Enter the person's age: ") ageRange = (int(age) - (int(age) / 2)) + 17 if age >= ageRange: print("") print(name + " is in the age range of " + str(ageRange) + " to " + str(age + 17)) else: print(name + " is not in the specified age range") I've tried replacing the input age with ageRange but this didn't work and I'm not sure if I'd be able to use the input age to manipulate the ageRange variable. A: You're missing two things. You're not incrementing your ageRange value. You're not going through the check properly. Since the age should be before the age range, you can do this instead: if age >= ageRange: print(name + " is in the age range of " + str(ageRange) + " to " + str(age + 17)) else: print(name + " is not in the specified age range") By changing the spacing here: name = input("Enter the person's name: ")
