not only can vrchat recognize your facial expressions, but it also allows the virtual characters to react to your input! just point your head in a certain direction and your avatar will smile, nod, or react in whatever way you choose. with a lot of people around, you can use vrchat to actually speak to someone else's avatar. sure, you can invite people into a room together and talk to each other, but this is not the same as being face to face with another person. by doing so, you will be able to communicate with all your friends and family around the world. welcome to virtual reality. it's fun, it's liberating and it's changing the way people view the world.

vrchat is to virtual reality what skype is to the internet. it lets you talk to anyone in the world and create a shared virtual space where ideas and dreams can come to life. and when you're in vrchat, it's not just a place you go to text chat and talk in real life; it's a place where you can create, share, play and explore. vrchat is a free multiplayer browser-based virtual reality platform and chat room that gives anyone the opportunity to create virtual worlds, meet new people and connect with others around the globe using any web browser. vrchat is a social virtual world built on top of the world's first widely accessible virtual reality technology. it's what happens when the internet, hardware, content and technology are brought together. it's a unique collaboration tool for virtual reality and a platform for connecting people around the world. but if you are always playing at the same person or if you're not somebody that you want to make friends, is there any way to get the avatar of the player you want to talk to? surely these players want to know that they can talk to you, right? however, there is no way to find players in vrchat (maybe future updates). but what if we told you there is a simple way to talk to the people we want to make friends with?

vrchat was a wonderful game and as such we had to add some workarounds that would simplify the experience of people who want to use it on mobile. but now that we've released a version of vrchat 3.0, these workarounds can be removed. so if you have an android device and want to try vrchat for yourself, there should be no need for any of the workarounds! that brings us to our last part of today's episode. here's what i'm excited about: the new vrchat 3.0 version. with those workarounds out of the way, we're finally able to get a version of vrchat that works with a huge variety of android devices. so if you want to have a look at what vrchat is about or even try out vrchat, here's what you'll need. like last time, there's no reason to wait to do this. try the game out for yourself! so what do you have to do to try vrchat? here it is:-- you're going to need an android device that can run vrchat. both android 2.3 and android 2.3.3 will work, but android 4.0 and up will work the best. if your device is an older version, the instructions below should give you the tools you need to update it to the latest version of android. use the nexus s for the best experience. -- download the vrchat sdk. to do this, open the google play store on your android device. tap the apps tab, then look for and tap vrchat. vrchat should be the third option in the "apps using the vrchat sdk" section. tap the install button to download the vrchat sdk. you will also be prompted to install the "android sdk build-tools" version 21.1.1 and the "android sdk platform-tools" version 19.0. 5ec8ef588b
